

Reflect on and share your experiential learning process

Congratulations on completing your end-of-course project! You have now created project strategy documents, a pipeline system, reporting tables, and a dashboard visualization. These components represent the primary deliverables that you'll create in your professional business intelligence projects. Now that you've created an end-to-end BI project, it's time to reflect on your experiences.

Before you incorporate your project into your portfolio, take a moment to reflect on what you have done so far:

How did your experience with the visualization section of the end-of-course project compare to the planning document and data pipeline sections?

How has your understanding of BI expanded since you started this project?

Have you learned any surprising lessons during any portions of this project?