Your learning journey

In this part of the program, you explored the foundations of business intelligence and how to use data to drive business goals. You discovered the role of BI professionals within an organization, as well as typical career paths. Then, you learned about core BI practices and tools — and how BI professionals use them to make a positive impact. Coming up next, you're going to investigate data modeling and ETL processes for extracting data from source systems, transforming it into formats that better enable analysis and drive business processes and goals.

For this discussion prompt, consider the following:

- How have your views on BI changed since you started this program?
- How has your understanding of BI expanded?
- What's an interesting element of BI you discovered that you didn't already know about?
