

1. Which business intelligence stakeholder studies and improves an organization's use of computer hardware and software, cloud services, and related technologies? 1 / 1 point

- ☒ Systems analyst
- ☐ Applications software developer
- ☐ Project sponsor
- ☐ Systems software developers

✓ Correct
The systems analyst studies and improves an organization's use of computer hardware and software, cloud services, and related technologies. They also identify ways to design, implement, and advance information systems in order to make it possible to achieve business goals.

2. As they work toward completing a project, a business intelligence professional is periodically sharing project deliverables with stakeholders. In this situation, what types of items might they be providing? Select all that apply. 1 / 1 point

☒ Product

✓ Correct
They might be sharing outcomes, products, or services. A deliverable is any product, service, or outcome that must be achieved in order to complete a project.

☒ Service

✓ Correct
They might be sharing outcomes, products, or services. A deliverable is any product, service, or outcome that must be achieved in order to complete a project.

☒ Outcome

✓ Correct
They might be sharing outcomes, products, or services. A deliverable is any product, service, or outcome that must be achieved in order to complete a project.

☐ Mission

3. Effective business intelligence professionals aim to ensure that their work doesn't create or reinforce bias. What is the term for this principle? 1 / 1 point

- ☐ Integrity
- ☒ Fairness
- ☐ Subjectivity
- ☐ Governance

✓ Correct
Effective business intelligence professionals aim to ensure that their work doesn't create or reinforce bias. This principle is called fairness.