Reflect on your dashboard decision-making process

In previous activities, you designed charts using data on rental listings in Athens, Greece. In the first activity, you created your data visualizations to answer the stakeholder's most important questions about the rental data. In the second activity, you arranged the charts you made into a dashboard. You also had the opportunity to explore in Tableau and add additional visual elements to your dashboard, such as titles, tooltips, and links. Now, you'll reflect on this experience and describe the choices you made.
For this discussion prompt, consider the following:

Did you include any additional visual elements in your dashboard beyond what was required in the activity?
If so, why did you include them?

Which dashboard function do you think might be helpful to use in another situation?
