Reflect on your experiences visualizing data

If you've earned the Google Data Analytics Certificate or worked on data analytics in the past, you've probably already made a data visualization. Before you begin the lessons in this course, think about your previous experiences creating and using data visualizations such as bar charts, pie charts, or graphs.
For this discussion prompt, consider the following:

Describe a specific visualization you've made. What data did you use and how did you visualize it?
In this experience, what did you find the most challenging? What did you find the easiest or most fun?